

WHAT IS A RUBRIC?

What? A tool to understand the criteria for success on an assignment, task, or activity.

Why? Rubrics are helpful to assess your work. They can be used independently, to self-assess, collaboratively, to peer-assess, and after submission by evaluators, to assess the final product.

Professional Objective- Self- Assessment Rubric

Key Indicator	Exemplary	Proficient	Developing
Concise	Professional objective meets the 40 word minimum without exceeding 75 words or 4 sentences. Covers a range of attributes within short sentences by using action verbs and relevant skills.	Professional objective meets the 40 word minimum without exceeding 75 words or 4 sentences. Does not cover multiple aspects of the candidate's skill set and goals.	Professional objective either does not meet the 40 word minimum or exceeds 75 words or 4 sentences. Does not cover multiple aspects of the candidate's skill set and goals.
Tailored	Professional objective integrates skills and experience that are unique to a specific industry in which they are seeking employment. Even better if it is related to goals of a specific company.	Professional objective integrates skills and experience that are relevant to a specific industry in which they are seeking employment.	Professional objective is generic and does not show direct interest or background in a specific discipline.
Specific	Professional objective includes specific data, degrees, or certifications to further define the candidate. Additional skills and goals are relevant to the industry and personalized to the candidate.	Professional objective includes some specific information. Skills and goals are relevant to the industry but seem rather vague.	Professional objective does not include specific skills, experiences, or goals. It does not seem individualized based on the candidate's goals and experiences.
Goal-oriented	Professional objective includes professional aspirations and links them to the mission of the industry or company in which they are pursuing work. It goes further to include how the candidate is already working towards those goals.	Professional objective includes professional aspirations and links them to the mission of the industry or company in which they are pursuing work.	Professional objective does not include a goal that is relevant to the industry or professional growth. It does not clearly connect a goal to skills or experience.

Key indicators are characteristics relevant to the particular assignment

Performance ratings run along the top to indicate the level of success reached.

Descriptions detail how to reach success in each category

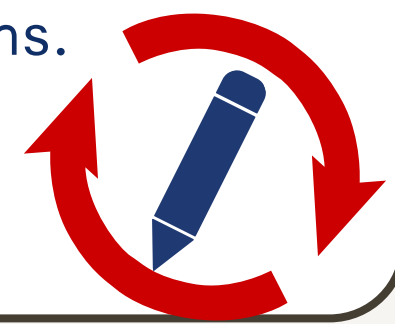

HOW TO USE A RUBRIC

- Step 1: Review the assignment instructions.
- Step 2: Read the descriptions for each key indicator and performance rating.
- Step 3: Write a first draft of your assignment and check for spelling/grammar errors.
- Step 4: Reread your work with the first key indicator in mind.
- Step 5: Edit your work to ensure that it meets the Exemplary description.
- Step 6: Repeat steps 3–4 for each key indicator.
- Step 7: Seek feedback from respected peers.
- Step 8: Revise your work based on peer feedback.
- Step 9: Offer feedback to other peers on their assignments.
- Step 10: Submit your assignment with confidence!

If your rubric looks like the one below it indicates that your assignment...

- Met all expert criteria for being concise.
- Would benefit from adding skills that are relevant to a company of interest.
- Should be revised to add specific and unique skills and qualifications.
- Expertly includes a relevant goal.

Professional Objective- Self- Assessment Rubric

Key Indicator	Exemplary	Proficient	Developing
Concise	Professional objective meets the 40 word minimum without exceeding 75 words or 4 sentences. Covers a range of attributes within short sentences by using action verbs and relevant skills.	Professional objective meets the 40 word minimum without exceeding 75 words or 4 sentences. Does not cover multiple aspects of the candidate's skill set and goals.	Professional objective either does not meet the 40 word minimum or exceeds 75 words or 4 sentences. Does not cover multiple aspects of the candidate's skill set and goals.
Tailored	Professional objective integrates skills and experience that are unique to a specific industry in which they are seeking employment. Even better if it is related to goals of a specific company.	Professional objective integrates skills and experience that are relevant to a specific industry in which they are seeking employment.	Professional objective is generic and does not show direct interest or background in a specific discipline.
Specific	Professional objective includes specific data, degrees, or certifications to further define the candidate. Additional skills and goals are relevant to the industry and personalized to the candidate.	Professional objective includes some specific information. Skills and goals are relevant to the industry but seem rather vague.	Professional objective does not include specific skills, experiences, or goals. It does not seem individualized based on the candidate's goals and experiences.
Goal-oriented	Professional objective includes professional aspirations and links them to the mission of the industry or company in which they are pursuing work. It goes further to include how the candidate is already working towards those goals.	Professional objective includes professional aspirations and links them to the mission of the industry or company in which they are pursuing work.	Professional objective does not include a goal that is relevant to the industry or professional growth. It does not clearly connect a goal to skills or experience.

